

'Sorry; Wrong Number', Is a Spine-Tingling Mystery Thriller

Top Cast in Saenger's Sunday Feature

A new kind of spine-tingling film thriller in which a woman overhears a telephone conversation plotting her murder and is powerless to save herself, is due Sunday at the Saenger Theatre. It is Paramount's movie version of the famous radio play, "Sorry; Wrong Number," co-starring Barbara Stanwyck and Burt Lancaster, supported by Ann Richards, Wendell Corey and Harold Vermylen.

Produced by Hal Wallis and Anatole Litvak, and directed by the latter, "Sorry; Wrong Number" was written for the screen by Lucille Fletcher, author of the original radio play, which, because of its tremendous success, was reproduced seven times. The film, of course, goes into detail in showing the highly dramatic events leading up to the murder, introducing new characters and developing the original ones.

Miss Stanwyck portrays the rich, bed-ridden neurotic who tries to get her husband's office on the telephone to find out when he is coming home, since she is alone in the house. It being the servant's night out, instead, she overhears a blood-chilling conversation between two men, going over plans for the murder of a woman, the murder to be committed at 11:15 that night.

It is 9:24 and Barbara, shocked by the cold-blooded plot, tries unsuccessfully to trace the call, and then to enlist assistance from the police. But her information is too meagre to warrant action from the police.

Then phone call follows phone call as Barbara tries to locate her husband (Lancaster), each conversation—with his secretary, with an old girl friend of his, with

In Europe, in America, the collapse of the third-party movement took a toll of the kind not yet known here. If the Wallace vote had been big and the CIO breakdown had still come off, it was thought that the left-wing leaders might try to lead the masses out of the CIO and into a new organization. But now it appears that they may back about and sell another course.

These leftists mostly accepted the fourth-party decision and did not appeal it to the CIO executive board. But it may not be far off that they are still the heads of their own armies. The board's action did nothing about that.

No now the leaders from a high might work up for the comrades to assume a secret and revolutionary role, and organize the Alcatraz Plan and otherwise anti-unioning the membership, keep their jobs, and join the revolutionary ranks streaming back to Mr. Truman's leadership.

The left big checks like a lot of other prominent people, were cool to the Truman candidate for a long time. But now they are becoming more and more active in taking the Communist line, and heading toward the inner political circles.

We don't know, of course, what intentions the CIO leaders have been given. But it would be well for both CIO and Democratic leaders to take a close look and make sure that the Communists aren't sneaking in by the parade, and heading toward the inner political circles.

What happens in the short time left her, during which Lancaster tries to stop the wheels of murder, is said to add up to the most suspenseful entertainment the screen has yet delivered.

Sunday School Lesson

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
The Apostle Peter, while he commanded "beloved brother Paul's" Epistles (II Peter 3:15, 16), "some things hard to be understood."

The New Testament contains epistles by Paul, Peter, James, John and Jude. Of these a greater number are by Paul. As far as their length, variety, subject matter, and historic place and impact upon the Christian church, they are much the most formidable.

In though the Epistles are all alike and bear much similarity in their expression of a common Christian spirit and teaching. If we were to judge Paul's Epistles by those more obscure and difficult passages to which Peter referred in the many references to local problems and controversies in the churches, we should hardly think of his letters as being the world's greatest.

But think of the many passages in which Paul showed himself far in advance of his age and well abreast of modern thought and movements in his conception of liberty. Think of his conception of church and society in which men are members one of another. Think of the clarity of his zeal for righteousness and the soundness of his ideas concerning life and labor. And then you have reason to appreciate the greatness of Paul and his letters.

But even beyond these things is the loftiness of the thought and the unexcelled beauty of expression in many passages that lift the letters to a great height.

If Paul had written nothing but the 13th chapter of I Corinthians, the "love" chapter, that gem of spiritual and literary perfection would have marked his greatness. But that is only the finest of many richly beautiful chapters or portions of chapters.

And his prayer for his fellow-Christians in the closing verses of Ephesians 3 has an eloquence of words that matches the magnitude of his vision of the boundless possibilities of Christian attainment.

These are but a few examples of the world's greatest letters. With the vision and variety of the Pauline conceivings was combined a rich vocabulary and a high skill in the use of words. His lists in verse phrases are striking. The list of things to think about in Philippians 4, the list of the fruits of the spirit in Galatians 5:22-23. Most striking of all is the list of all possible existences, followed by the list of all possible forces and powers in Romans 8.

Men of action are not always articulate or forceful in expression, but Paul was, as great in words, at least in the written word, as he was in deed.

Tyrone Power Featured at Rialto Sunday

Bubbling over with riotous fun and bringing a new enchantment to romance, Twentieth Century-Fox's newest hit, "The Luck of the Irish," co-starring Tyrone Power and Anne Baxter, opens Sunday at the Rialto theater. The romance brings Power and Miss Baxter together for the first time since "The Razor's Edge" in what are said to be their most delightful screen roles to date.

In this film, Tyrone Power is seen as Stephen Fitzgerald, an American newspaper man who stumbles across romance in Ireland and blithely sails for home, only to find that a touch of shamrock packs a long-distance wallop no level-headed reporter could ever believe possible. Following her dramatic triumph in "The Walls of Jericho," Miss Baxter, in a glistening change of mood, plays the role of a starry-eyed colleen who runs after her heart and finds it being taken for a ride in the New York subway.

Steve Fitzgerald might have viewed his brief interlude in Ireland as merely an idyllic dream in which he met—and kissed—lovely Nora. Certainly, working for the egotistical publisher, D. C. Augur (Lee J. Cobb) back in New York, and being subjected to the whims of his glamorous daughter, Frances (Jayne Meadows) left no room for such dreams. But then up turns Horace (Cecil Kellaway), the little man who's the very "I" of the spirit of the Irish, and then Nora, herself, arrives in a New York subway, and bewildered Fitz soon finds himself whirling in a series of hilarious complications that are to give his sense of romance an enchanting jolt. All of which is said by preview critics to make for the most rollicking and high-spirited entertainment of the season.

As Horace, the out-of-the-ordinary man with the shamrock touch, who slyly manipulates the Power-Baxter romance, Cecil Kellaway has a role the likes of which hasn't been seen on the screen since Edmund Gwenn's unforgettable table "Mr. Kringle" in "The Miracle on 34th Street." Horace is credited with being the surprise comedy role of the year.

Lee J. Cobb, who was a newspaper editor in "Call Northside 777," was promoted in "The Luck of the Irish" to a magazine publisher with high political ambitions. Others appearing in important roles of the film, which was directed by Henry Kostner and produced by Fred Kohlmar, include James Todd, J. M. Kerrigan, Phil Brown and Charles Irwin. Philip Dunne's screen play was based on a novel by Guy and Constance Jones.

U. S. to Talk Over Western Europe Pact

Washington, Dec. 10 — (AP) — Negotiation of a proposed military alliance between the United States and western Europe will be resumed here at 3:00 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today.

The state department announced that Undersecretary of State Lovett will meet with the ambassadors of Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada for the first of a new series of talks looking to creation of a North Atlantic defense system under the United Nations.

The subject was first explored in talks here last summer. The five Western European Union nations meeting in Europe, then worked out detailed proposals for a pact on which they generally agree. Some details are still in dispute, however.

The Europeans, for example, are reported to have decided to ask for a 50-year commitment from the United States and Canada.

PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE...

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. * This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. * Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. * There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your finger tips; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. * But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

THE NEW 1949 CADILLAC IS NOW ON DISPLAY

Secrecy Over Young Prince Denounced

London, Dec. 9. — Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard took Buckingham palace to task today for secrecy about Princess Elizabeth's 26-day old baby.
"Only a favored few know what he looks like or how he is progressing," complained the Londoner's daily column. "No bulletin has yet issued since Dec. 3."
"Why this secrecy? The whole world is waiting to know about the baby. But Buckingham palace officials refuse all details."

Waltz into Darkness

By William Irish

THE STORY: Bonny questions Durand about a life insurance policy he has once mentioned. He tells her he has not kept up payments and so it is no longer in force. Later when he goes to look for it, it is gone. As is the diamond ring from Bonny's finger.

Within the week, the cook and cleaning woman, (one and the same) whom they'd had until then, was suddenly gone, and they were alone now in the house.

He asked her about this, after two successive days without her, only noting her departure, man like, after it had already taken place. "What's become of Amelia?" "I shipped her Tuesday," she said shortly.

"But I thought we owed her three or four weeks back wages? How were you able to pay her?" "I didn't."

"And she agreed to go none the less?" "She had no choice. I ordered her to. She will get her money when we have it ourselves. She knows that."

"Aren't you getting anyone else?" "No," she said, "I can manage," and added something under her breath that he didn't hear quite clearly.

"What?" he asked in involuntary surprise. He thought she had said, "for the little time there is."

"I said, for a little time, that is," she repeated adamantly.

And manage she did. For two full days she cooked, she washed the dishes, she swung a broom all up and down the stairs. Then on the second night of this apprenticeship—

He heard her scream out suddenly in the kitchen, and there was the crash of a dropped dish as it slipped from her hands.

He flung down the phone and had been browsing through and dived in there. She was standing before the steaming washbasin. "What is it, did you scald yourself?"

She was pointing, horrified. "A rat, she choked. "I ran straight between my feet as I stood here. Into here. And with a sickened grimace. "Oh, the size of it! The horrid look!"

He took up a poker and plunged it into the crevice at meeting place of wall and floor that she had indicated, working it vigorously to and fro.

She watched a moment. "What are you trying to do?" she said coldly.

"Why, kill it," he panted. "That is not the way to be rid of them!" Her foot gave a clout of impatience against the floor. "You kill one, and there are a dozen left."

She flung down her apron, strode from the room and out to the front of the house. Sensing some purpose he could not divine, but disquieted by it, he put down the poker after a moment, struggled to his feet, and went after her. He found her in the hall, bowed and shawled, to his astonishment, in readiness to go out.

"Where are you going?" "Since you don't know enough to I am going to the pharmacist myself, to have him give me something that will exterminate them," she retorted ungraciously.

"Now? At this hour? Why? It's past 9; he'll be closed long ago."

"There is another on the other side of town, that stays open until 10; you know that as well as I do." And she added with ill-humored decision, as though he were to blame for their presence in some way, "I will not go back into that kitchen and run the risk of being attacked. They will be while we sleep!"

running over our very bed, yet offered hastily. "No need for you. Very well, I'll go myself." He to go at this time of night.

She relented somewhat. She took off her shawl, though still frowning a trifle that he had not seen his duty sooner. She took him to

Big Nine to Open Meeting at Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 9. — (UPI) — The Big Nine opens its regular winter meeting tomorrow with three items on the agenda which could make Western conference history.
Major topics which faced the faculty representatives, athletic directors and football coaches were:
1. Decision by the faculty representatives whether to admit Michigan State as the tenth member of the league.
2. Approval, amendment or rejection by the faculty representatives of a new plan to tighten restrictions on scholarships held by athletes.
3. Preparation by athletic directors and football coaches of the grid schedules for 1950, 1951 and 1952.
There were elements in each topic which could produce heated discussions before final settlement.

Boy Scout troop 53 of the Presbyterian church held its regular meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the church at 7 o'clock. Fourteen members were present and the program was under the supervision of Scoutmasters Paul Raley and John Bagley.

In the pre-opening William Camp taught a very useful knot "how to tie a knot."

Bobby Martin officially opened the meeting with assembly on the bugle.

This was followed by a re-dedication to the scout oath, led by Patrol Leader William Camp.

In the period set aside for troop business procedure was as follows: Reports were given on the repair and improvement of the Scout Hut.

As a troop good turn the members of troop 53 will re-condition the toys in the nursery of the church next Thursday night.

Officers elected to serve for the new year are patrol leaders, Bobby Martin and William Camp; asst. patrol leaders, Donnell Bagley and Scout Baker; Scribe, Herbert Griffith, Jr.

DOROTHY DIX Battling Parents

Dear Dorothy Dix: All my life I have lived in a home that has been a battlefield. My mother and father are basically two fine people who are really fond of each other, but they are in a perpetual fight about everything and nothing. They have made many sacrifices to give us children the advantages of education and association, but they have nagged us continually and kept us virtual prisoners.

I am a woman in my early twenties now and I feel that I have a right to, at least, some freedom. Do you think that I would be justified in leaving home and striking out for myself?

A BEWILDERED DAUGHTER

Answer: I certainly do. You owe it to yourself to keep your nerves from being shattered and your disposition soured, as would be bound to happen if you continued to live in a household where there is constant bickering.

"Peace! Peace! Ain't peace wonderful?" said Father Divine, and he never uttered a truer word. It is one indispensable thing to happiness.

There is a lot of maudlin sentiment about the breaking up of families, but nine times out of ten it is their salvation. For, as one of our great philosophers once said, "The scattering of children is the only thing that keeps the Joneses from being smothered by the Joneses and the Smiths from being smothered by the Smiths."

Life with any one of them is not worth living, yet few of us have the courage to get up and leave our place of torment. We are victims of the fallacy that we have to stand the disgruntled members of our families, instead of chucking them out of the door.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have the ideal daughter-in-law. Until she married my son she had never cooked a meal in her life. Now every minute of the day, Mothers who nag. Fathers who are tyrants. Grandmother who whines. Grandfather who always interferes with everything that isn't his business. Aunt Sally who is the perpetual talker.

Life with any one of them is not worth living, yet few of us have the courage to get up and leave our place of torment. We are victims of the fallacy that we have to stand the disgruntled members of our families, instead of chucking them out of the door.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have the ideal daughter-in-law. Until she married my son she had never cooked a meal in her life. Now every minute of the day, Mothers who nag. Fathers who are tyrants. Grandmother who whines. Grandfather who always interferes with everything that isn't his business. Aunt Sally who is the perpetual talker.

Dear Dorothy Dix: A month ago my wife left me and our two sons, ages 13 and 11, without giving any explanation or reason for doing so. I had great difficulty in locating her address, but a member of her family told me that she was all right and living with some other woman and working, and that I should not try to find her.

I purchased a home for her last year, which pleased her very much, and then she walks out and leaves us, not even leaving a message for her children. She took everything out of the house that she wanted, from ironing board, silver wear, dishes, sheets, pillows, blankets and many other things. She even took all the money we had saved and kept in the bank.

What is your advice in this matter? Just forget her and live for the interest of my sons?

N. C. H.

Answer: There is nothing you can do except to just leave her alone. Apparently she found no fault with you as a husband. She simply lost her taste for you. That is not uncommon, but the strange thing is that she forsake her children with seemingly no regret at leaving.

There is no other form of martyrdom that is so agonizing as having to live with people who rub you raw every minute of the day. Mothers who nag. Fathers who are tyrants. Grandmother who whines. ## OU Coach Denies Seeking Bid to Southwest Loop

Norman, Okla., Dec. 10 —(AP)—University of Oklahoma Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson said last night O. U. has not made an application to affiliate with the Southwest Conference.

His statement came after Sooner magazine, official organ of the university's alumni association, published an article hinting affiliation with the conference.

Here's what Wilkinson, who also coaches the Sooner football team, said: "So far as I know, nothing has been done to seek a place in the Southwest Conference. About the only development I've heard of was a letter from some resident of Arkansas asking if we were happy in the Big Seven—but there was nothing official about that."

"We definitely have not made application for a place in the Southwest."

Hope, Blevins Legion Teams Play Tonight

Hope's American Legion basketball team, smarting from a defeat Wednesday night at the hands of Ouachita college five, will be seeking victory tonight at the school when they tangle with the Blevins American Legion team.

The contest promises plenty of cage action. The public is invited.

BURNS FATAL TO CHILD Jonesboro, Dec. 8 —(AP)—Six-year-old Wilma Faye Ussery died at a Jonesboro hospital yesterday after a long illness.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Faye Ussery, formerly of Russellville.

ized to make any commitments for the A. F. of L.

Brogna said he didn't like the tone of my voice. I told him it was just about the tone of voice that a prosecuting attorney would use in cross-examining some defendant in his own court who was trying to squirm out of something.

I asked him who paid his expenses and Mrs. Brogna. He said he didn't know. Can you imagine what a judge would do to a witness who gave that answer to that question in a trial?

"There was a large banquet in New York," he said. "I don't know whether that money was used or union money. My expenses were paid."

He said I could draw my own conclusions from his dodging of the fair question. "Who did you have to go by way of Milton to attend a conference in Bristol?"

Okay, I am drawing them, and you can draw yours.

"But be sure you don't make them libelous," he added.

Okay. They aren't libelous. But they sure as hell are no compliment to the Hon. Vincent Brogna of the superior court of the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Arkansas Loses to LIU by 56-42 Score

New York, Dec. 19 —(AP)—Arkansas' Razorbacks shuffled off to Buffalo today in hopes of getting even in their eastern basketball tour.

The Southwest Conference quintet, which dropped a ragged 56-42 decision to Long Island university in Madison Square Garden last night, will play Canisius in Buffalo's municipal auditorium tomorrow night.

The Razorbacks last night got plenty of shots, but couldn't hit the basket and were wild in their passing.

Arkansas made a real battle of it in the first half, at one time holding a 24-20 lead. But Long Island took over 27-25 by halftime and pulled away in the second period.

Forward Jim Cathcart led the Parker attack with ten points. Long Island center Sherman White paced all scorers with 13.

Oklahoma Team Favored Over Ouachita

Denison, Tex., Dec. 10 —(AP)—Southeastern State of Oklahoma is a slight favorite over Ouachita of Arkansas for their Texoma Bowl football battle here tonight.

A crowd of from 7,500 to 12,000 is expected.

Fans anticipate a free-scoring even as Ouachita matches its passing man, Sam Bailey, and a fleet of line runners, against the versatile Snuggles, sparked by Arthur Stewart, the Oklahoma collegiate conference's mighty back.

Ouachita lost two games in early season but hasn't been headed since boasting a record of eight victories against two defeats. Southeastern's only loss was a 6-2 decision to Central Oklahoma.

Probable lineups: Ouachita: Turner, LG; White, LT; Taber, LG; Ramsay, C; Herrington, RG; Sharp, RT; Bailey, RE; Baird, RB; Smith, QB; Wimberly, RH; Tisworth, FB

Southeastern: Dunn, LE; B. Stewart, LG; Harris, LT; O'Dea, LG; Albridge, RG; Williamson, RT; Harrel, RB; Thorne, QB; A. Stewart, LH; Redmon, RH; Steward, FB

All-State Men in Arkansas College League

Little Rock, Dec. 10 —(AP)—The adage, "to the victors go the spoils," fits the 1948 All-Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football team quite well.

Coaches who picked the official All-AIC team, announced today, awarded all the positions on the first eleven to stars of the top four clubs in the standings. The champion Arkansas Tech Wonder Boys got four. Ouachita, the only Arkansas team which defeated Tech, placed three men on the first team, and Magnolia A. & M. and Arkansas A. & M. two each. Other members of the 11-team loop had to be satisfied with second and third team selections.

The all-AIC backfield boasts two great breakers, announced today, Simpson of Tech and Sammy Fure of Magnolia A. powerful line smasher in Willis (Convoy) Leslie of Arkansas A. & M., and a fine passer and T formation quarterback in Sam Bailey of Ouachita.

The "dream" team averages 201 yards a game, passing and rushing combined. Most of the first team selections will be back in action next season. Four are sophomores, four are juniors and only three are seniors.

The first team: Carey, L. A. L. H. Ark. A. and M., end wt. 195, ht. 6:3, age 24, senior.

Ben Burton, Magnolia, tackle, wt. 200, ht. 6:1, age 20, soph. Billy Huie, Ark. Tech., guard, wt. 185, ht. 5:8, age 25, senior.

Dave Ludwick, Ark. Tech., center, wt. 190, ht. 6:2, age 21, junior. Jim Herrington, Ouachita, guard, wt. 200, ht. 5:10, age 21, senior.

Ike Sharp, Ouachita, tackle, wt. 235, ht. 5:10, age 22, soph. Bill Morris, Ark. Tech., end, wt. 185, ht. 6:1, age 23, junior.

Sammy Fure, Magnolia, back, wt. 150, ht. 5:1, age 21, soph. Jack Simpson, Ark. Tech., back, wt. 170, ht. 5:10, age 21, soph.

Second team: Jim Sawyer, Henderson, End. Charlie Zinn, Ark. A. M., end. Roy White, Ouachita, Tackle. Bill Woodiel, Ark. Tech., tackle. Jim Taber, Ouachita, guard. Wm. Funderburg, Ark. A. M., guard.

Curis Copc, State Teachers, center. Bill Montgomerie, Henderson, back. John Douthitt, Hendrix, back. Gene Harwood, Ark. Tech., back. Jas. Esthridge, Magnolia, back.

Third team: Troy Bedcoe, Hendrix, end. Shelby Helmebeck, Little Rock J. C., end. Jabo Wemack, Magnolia, tackle. Louis Waldron, Little Rock J. C., back.

1948 Football Season Broke Five Records

New York, Dec. 10 —(AP)—The 1948 college football season produced five forward passing and pass-catching records, but the trend was strictly away from the team "battery" combinations which dominated in 1947.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau final figures released today showed instead, the nation's leading pigskin pitchers and catchers were pretty well scattered around.

Nevada's Stan Heath, who set a passing yardage record with 2,003, and a touchdown passing record with 22 for six-pointers.

Leading catcher was Johnny "Red" O'Quinn of Wake Forest, who caught 39 for 605 yards.

The only team pair to come near the top was Tulsa's two Jims — Finks throwing and Ford receiving. Finks ranked second behind the phenomenal Heath as a chucker with 115 completions in 214 attempts for 1,374 yards, compared to Heath's 126 completions in 222 flips. Ford ranked fifth in receiving with 35 caught for 493 yards.

Among the passers, 35 completed more than Dick Gilman of Kansas but only Heath outstripped him in payoff pitches. Gilman threw 14 scoring passes while completing 49 on 127 throws, or an average of approximately one touchdown every three times he found a receiver.

Tying Gilman at 14 were Walter Brennan, Holy Cross, and Bobby Thompson, VMI. Gill Johnson of Southern Methodist had the best completion percentage, .608. He had been gun-tackle. Lonnie Hardgraves, Ozarks, guard. Chas. Cook, Henderson, guard. Harold Brinson, Magnolia, center. Walter Wimberly, Ouachita, back. Gene Hall, Ark. Tech., back. John Kornegay, State Teachers, back. Craig Benson, Ark. A. M., back.

Class B Title to Be Decided Tonight

By The Associated Press

Powerful teams and brilliant individuals will go on parade Friday night in the finals of the Class A and Class B Arkansas high school football playoffs.

Paragould's Bulldogs, playing on their home field, will throw a perfect record and the state's highest scorer against Benton for the Class A title. All-state Bill Daniel, triple-threat back, is the gentle man with the points—134 of them.

Together the two Class A finalists will field a total of five all-stars, three of them in the Paragould lineup.

Benton has won eight games and lost three.

It'll be Lake Village vs. Dermott at Monticello for the Class B championship. And in this one, too, individual fireworks are expected. Billed almost as high as the game itself is an expected duel between two triple-threaters, Larry Hogue of the Dermott Rams and Lamar McLean of Lake Village's Beavers.

Both teams represent the Eighth District. Lake Village as district champion and Dermott as defending state title.

Lake Village is the favorite on the basis of a 20-0 victory over the Rams during the regular season, but most observers tell it will be closer in the little game.

The Friday night action drops the curtain on the prep season. Two champions already have been decided in the Big Six Division and Blytheville in Class AA.

ning for that record of .630 set by Hugh McCullough, Olinholm, in 1938, but his average went by the boards as he completed 17 of 31 in the Mustangs' last minute desperation drive to eke a 77 standoff with Texas Christian.

Columbia's Gene Rossides was the year's champion at avoiding interception, having only three stolen while completing 60 of 112. No other passer in collegiate history has escaped with fewer than five thefts on 100 or more throws.

Jones Mill Ready for Full Production

Little Rock, Dec. 9 —(AP)—The Reynolds Metals company is now operating the Jones Mill, Ark.

Do This for Head-Cold Stuffiness!

Instantly—the moment you put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril—you'll feel your cold-stuffed nose start to open up and give you wonderful relief from sniffly head-cold distress. Va-tro-nol acts so fast because it works right where trouble is. It relieves stuffy congestion, and makes breathing easier. If used in time, Va-tro-nol helps prevent many colds from developing! Try it! Vicks Va-tro-nol Nose Drops.

aluminum plant at half capacity and is ready to go into full production within 60 days, when power is available.

That information was supplied by a company spokesman after the plant's operation entered an exchange of statements between Clyde Ellis, executive manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative association, and C. Hamilton Moses, Arkansas Power and Light company president. Ellis, in a letter published in the association's magazine, called on the power company to supply Reynolds with more power so that more aluminum wire could be produced. The rural electrification program is being delayed by an aluminum wire shortage, he said. Moses, stating he had not received a letter from Ellis, said his company had a contract to supply Reynolds the power it needs when a new generating plant at Luke Catherine is completed next October.

Walter Rice, Reynolds vice-president and general counsel, said in Richmond, Va., that his company has two pipelines leased from the War Assets administration and is operating them at full capacity, and will lease the other two pipelines and put them into operation when power is available.

Modern refrigeration was invented in 1861.

Lilenthal Warns Reds Have A-Bomb

Washington, Dec. 8 —(AP)—People who minimize the atom bomb's destructive power are playing into Russian hands, David E. Lilenthal says.

The chairman of the atomic energy commission told the women's National Press club yesterday that "some military men and some scientists" now say the bomb is "just another super block buster."

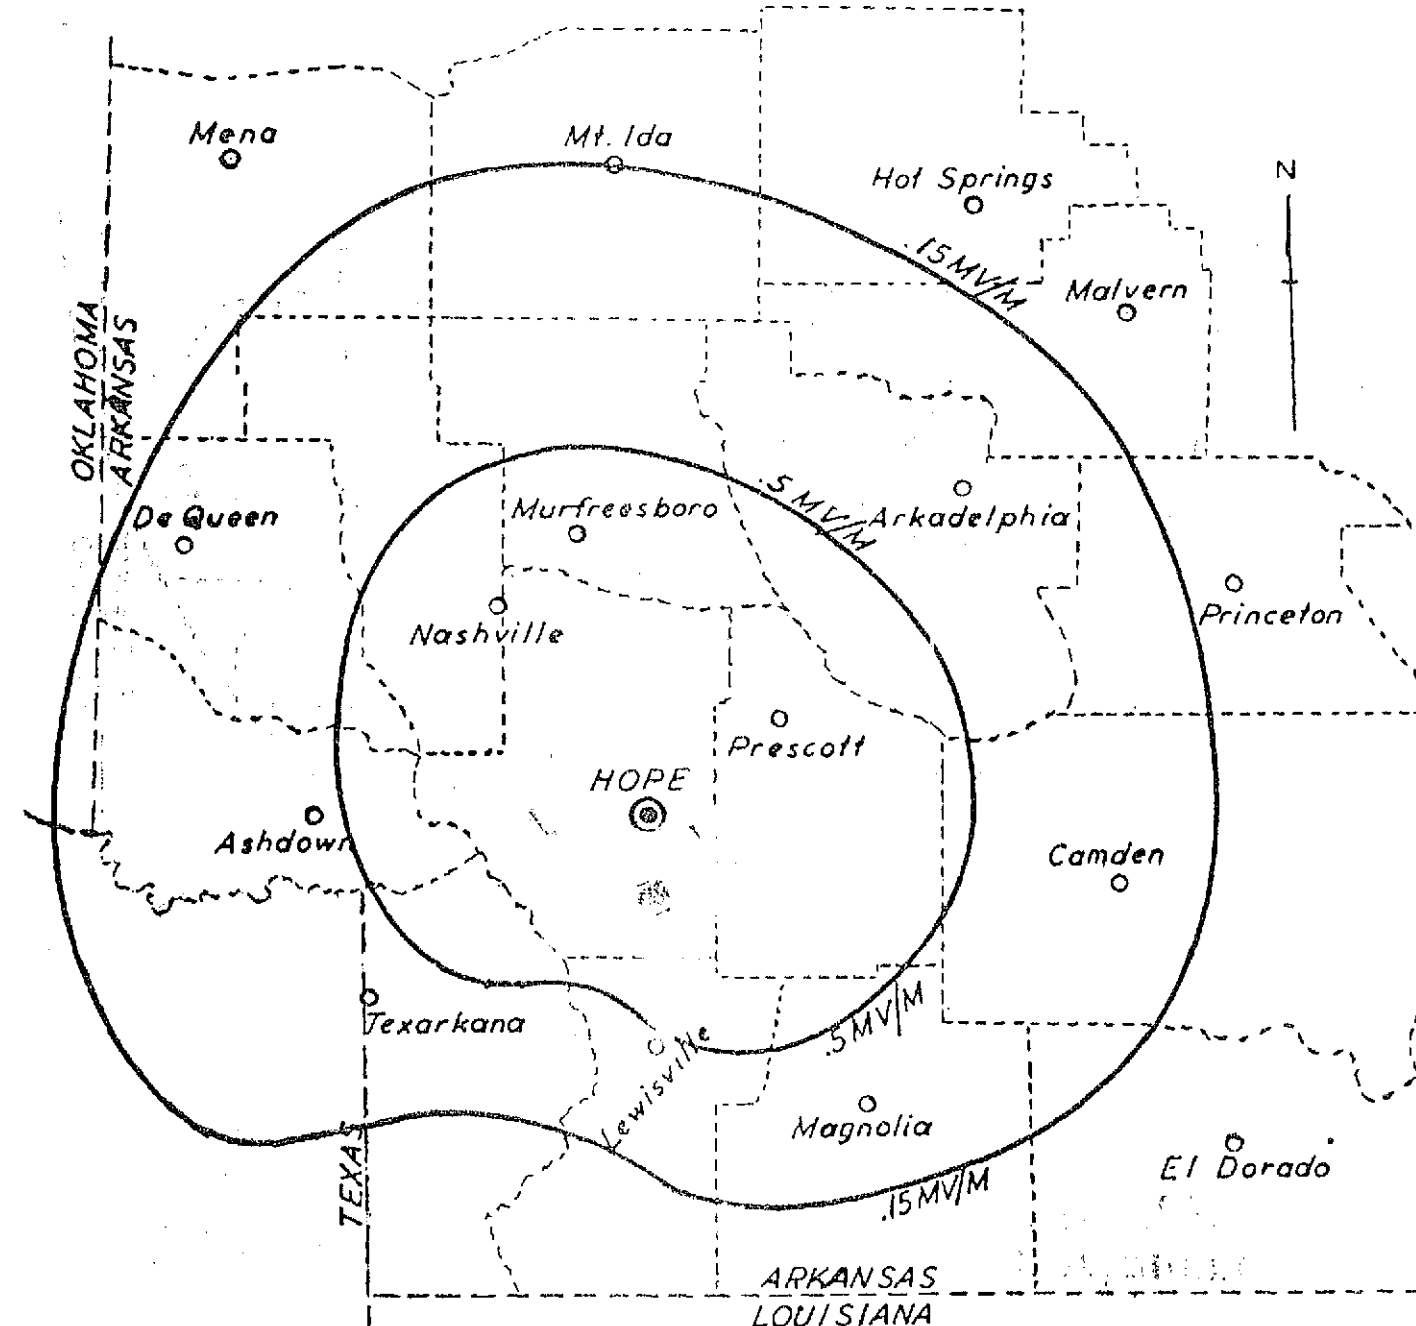

ie bomb is the attitude of the Kremlin," Lilenthal said.

If the country were to accept this idea, he said, it might spur a drive to return the atomic energy program to military control — a move Lilenthal consistently has opposed. The program now is under supervision of the five civilian members of the atomic energy commission.

Lilenthal also assailed the idea that supplies of uranium — the A-bomb's source material — are too scarce for large scale use of atomic energy. He said that within the next 20 years a sizeable amount of the nation's electricity will be produced by atomic energy plants. Lilenthal predicted an experimental "atomic power" plant would be producing "atomic power" in about three years. This down-grading of the atom-
